

Evil Kimmy's Halloween 2013

Trip Participants

Kim, Glen and Monica Coddington, Mikaela (Monica's friend) – Trip Leader
Too many to list!!

After quite a bit of planning and venue changing due to the fires, it was decided that the best place to hold our party would be at Sackville Ski Gardens. Again, the guys at the ski park were very welcoming and accommodating on short notice.

As this was a weekend to just relax, some people arrived on the Friday afternoon and went about their business setting up camp and decorations at a leisurely pace. After a few beverages and a lot of chatting and laughing, it was decided that dinner would be ordered from the local takeaway shop up the road. The food was nice but not much of it!! A few more laughs to be had and we were all off to bed as tomorrow was going to be a big day!

On Saturday, we woke to a beautiful sunny day. Everyone starting arriving around mid-morning with the last of them arriving at 6pm! All camps were decorated and the kids (and adults) were starting to get excited as 7pm was the all-important meeting time!! The toilet block was taken up with Monica and Mikaela doing make-up

As the time went ticking by, little and big monsters started emerging from everywhere! All types of creatures from dead bunnies to Dracula to a clown (not a happy one!) were out and scaring people! All the kids assembled for the handing out of the club packs before our group photos were taken. From there it was trick or treat for the rest of the night. It didn't take the kids long to work out who they got more from as they made 2 or 3 passes at each tent! Most people went for treat however some people opted for trick (on Monica of all people) so trick it was!! The lollies kept all the kids sparking well into the night. Everyone seemed to have a fun night. Sunday morning was a nice and easy morning. Many of the camps cooking bacon and eggs while the kids were still happily eating lollies from the night before. Slowly but surely we all started to pack up camp and head off, some earlier than others. It was a great weekend and I would like to thank everyone for being so patient and understanding with the many venue changes we had to make. Hope to see you all and more next year
