

KANANGRA WALLS

Kanangra Boyd day trip

A fantastic sunny morning greeted us as we all met up at the historic little Hartley village for a brief run down on the day ahead.

We all formed convoy and headed out for Jenolan caves via Jenolan Caves road.

Passing through the caves provided some photo opportunities with cameras dangling out the windows capturing the large formations of the “grand arch”.

We reached the entrance to the park and all aired down ready to hit the dirt.

The tracks were in pretty good condition and posed no hassles for anyone

After a steep descent, our first stop was by the Kowmung River for morning tea. The kids kept busy by filling the river with rocks while the rest talked 4x4 stuff.

Crossing the river we did the short drive to Dingo Dell camp ground, had a quick look around and then headed out via Morong creek trail, which had plenty of mud holes and provided a bit of colour on the sides of the 4wds. We had a quick bite to eat for lunch at the “walls”.

With a short walk we all viewed the spectacular outlook which is Kanangra Walls, we were lucky enough to have fantastic weather conditions and everyone got plenty of pictures.

A short but steep walk followed to visit a large cave which kept the kids busy.

We drove back out on Kanangra Walls road through, Boyd River and up to the sealed road to air up and say our goodbyes.

Many thanks to Ben and family for a great day with everyone. ...
